

Anticipation is riding high for decentralized social networks to emerge. As an open-source-based and decentralized social network, Mastodon, currently with 1.9 million monthly active users, has become the to-go choice for many users to be believe in celf-central and autonomy. Despite its functions like Twitter, Mastodon allows individual users to cet up

Fediverse

statt Mastodon